

Craig Mann

CCA, CCP, CFE, PMP | Senior Manager

Craig joined MDD Forensic Accountants in 2025. He is a Senior Manager at the firm's Philadelphia office. Prior to MDD, he worked at a large national accounting firm where he specialized in the construction sector—conducting project audits, managing fraud investigations, and overseeing financial project controls. Notably, Craig led a high-profile FBI case that uncovered over one million dollars in theft and resulted in criminal convictions.

Craig's expertise includes the quantification of economic damages related to fraud and investigations, business valuation, employee dishonesty, and builders' risk and soft costs.

His extensive experience spans various industries, including construction, government, and healthcare, enabling him to navigate complex regulatory environments and deliver tailored forensic solutions across diverse sectors.

A recognized thought leader in his field, Craig has presented webinars for the National Association of Construction Auditors (NACA), offering insights into construction audit, fraud detection, and risk mitigation. His contributions have also been published by NACA, reflecting his commitment to advancing best practices and professional standards within the forensic accounting community.

Craig is a U.S. Marine Corps veteran. He earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Marketing from California State University and a Master of Accounting from Rider University.
