

Energy

The way we manage and lead our Energy practice is reflective of how we know our clients consider this industry. Our practice is broken down into three global segments - oil and gas, power generation and mining.

Each segment has segment leaders and regional coordinators to help you find the most appropriate MDD resource and expertise for your specific assignment needs.